

Wave photo by Tish Dahmen

Pow Wow Spectacular

In its fifteenth year, the Heber Valley Pow Wow hosted Native American tribes from across the intermountain west. Drummers, dancers and singers performed at the three-day event which drew record breaking crowds. See page D1 for more pictures.

7-3-82

Lett

From The Wave

campus bond for eady been h. sking for new facil-
student t of three 1 in vari-
y.

cts being s campus
f being munity of losing

f the cost ampus - raised by sh, propties. With only two ay, local
the prove do not

w critics to sabo-
be this achieve-
ture suc-
e by giv-
fordable,
are they

t a small ing the
At one

Twenty-five acres, however, were generously donated to the college in what is now called the North Village development, an area less than three miles outside the Heber City limits. Another 25 bordering acres were purchased by the college to provide for future expansion. And, expand it will.

Enrollment at UVSC-Wasatch has an growth rate of 15 percent annually and continues to climb.

College officials predict even without taking into account UVSC's academic reputation, the Wasatch Campus' close proximity to summer and winter recreational and sporting opportunities will drive up enrollment.

Already enrollment records show that students from Utah, Summit, and Duchesne Counties, as well as Wasatch County, pursue degrees at the UVSC's transition facilities here. So many more will be served with a proper campus.

We must remind state officials that this campus is not new to Wasatch County. The college already exists with more than 600 students. We are only trying to provide it with a permanent home.

It would be shameful to have this hard-won dream ripped from us at the last hour.

Revolution Led Businessmen

it more powerful. But in America, most leaders were citizen-lawmakers who earned their living and expressed their creativity through private endeavors,

What makes the American Revolution

Thanks

Editor: Please address this letter to the great men and women of our local fire and police department.

I can't say enough "thanks" for the quick actions that saved my rental building on the night of June 18.

A fire started in the kitchen in the second floor apartment. Only a few minutes after the fire was reported, the trucks were out front and the fire was being put out.

They used foam and a slight amount of water. I was amazed at the small amount of damage by water.

My building was saved because of their speed and knowledge in the fire procedure.

Ralph E. Lugton
Heber City

July 4

Editor: During the last year, our country has defied attempts by terrorists trying to take away our freedom.

We have become united in defending our rights and privileges. The Utah Highway Patrol, serving Summit and Wasatch Counties would like to thank the citizens of Utah for the efforts in fighting the war on terrorism.

Have a safe Independence Day.

UHP Trooper Matt McWhirter
Heber City

Library vs. Airport

Editor: There shortly will be a bond issue vote on enlarging the Wasatch County Library, a start on a long overdue community improvement. The library is overflowing, it's 68-year old building, and its collection of books is pitiful.

Where we previously lived, there were three branches of the county library within two miles of our house. Each of these housed more books than the